Soviet Newspapers Fail To Print Photos of Moon

MOSCOW (AP) — Photos sent from the moon by the Soviet Union's Luna 9 were seen today by newspaper readers almost everywhere except in the Soviet Union.

Soviet officials continued to withhold the pictures from public view. Instead, Soviet newspaper readers saw such headlines as "Dream Coming True!" and "We'll Be Seeing You, Moon!"

Papers also published pictures of two pennants aboard the spacecraft and photos of the moon taken through telescopes on earth, but gave no indication when the close-up photos received from Luna 9 would be released.

The Soviet military newspaper Red Star disclosed that the spacecraft had landed slightly off target after its 3½-day flight but gave no further details.

Luna 9's radio began transmitting photographs of the rock-

strewn landscape after the unmanned spacecraft made history's first soft landing on the moon Thursday night.

The British observatory at Jodrell Bank intercepted the signals, fed them through a newspaper's wirephoto equipment and converted the dots of light and shade into sharp pictures that were then relayed to much of the world.

Sir Bernard Lovell, Jodrell Bank director, said the pictures were "quite sensational." He indicated he was puzzled that Soviet officials released some information on them but did not publish the pictures themselves.

"I don't know the reason for that," he said, "but it is slightly strange in that they have taken the trouble to announce the frequency and transmitted on standard scanning lines."

Lovell said it was possible the Russians deliberately intended to have Jodrell Bank's sensitive, 250-foot-wide radio antenna pick up the photos. "I doubt if the Russians are getting better pictures," he added.

The huge, saucer-shaped radio telescope monitored three complete pictures in 45 minutes. The fourth was of poor quality.

Lovell said Luna 9 apparently was landed so it would be in sunlight for 14 days. Transmission could be expected over that period, he said, but it was not known what would happen after the equipment package was plunged into the lunar night.

Lovell said the first few photographs "tend to confirm the view that the moon's surface is hard, sponge-like and of a pumice stone substance. It would be perfectly satisfactory, not only for the landing of men, but for heavy vehicles."

The scientist said that the dust on the moon's surface seemed to be only a few inches thick in the area photographed.

In Tucson, Ariz., Dr. Gerard Kuiper, chief U.S. experimenter on moon shots, said it was good to hear that the dust was not deep.

"We don't have to worry about this any more," he said, but added that the jagged lava-like surface was nothing like earth. "No one is going to walk very far on this," he said.

South Shivers As North 'Basks'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
An arctic air mass with its core south of Lake Michigan spread freezing temperatures again to the Gulf Coast today.

The middle Canadian border region, traditionally the nation's coldest spot, was warmer than the South.

Cut Bank, Mont., had a reading of 34 above zero an hour after midnight, one degree warmer than Tampa, Fla., where the mercury showed 33. Dickinson, N.D., with 28, was warmer than New Orleans' 26.

At 2 a.m. EST, the lowest official reading was 10 below zero at Terre Haute, Ind. Evansville, Ind., on the Ohio River, had 9 below zero. The sub-zero zone covered upper Michigan, Eastern Wisconsin and Illinois and south and central Indiana.

LBJ's Mission To Underscore Rebuilding Job

Emphasis Is Seen Placed on Viet's Economic Needs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's mid-Pacific conference on Viet Nam appears aimed at underscoring "country building" economic and social aspects of the U.S. effort, rather than heralding any dramatic new military direction in the war.

Johnson also may be trying to give Asia — and the rest of the world — a picture of a U.S. president journeying thousands of miles to Honolulu to meet South Viet Nam's top leaders and confer with them as equals. The Communists often have derided Saigon's leaders as puppets.

Announcement of the trip came against a backdrop of rising Senate criticism of the administration's Viet Nam course.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which grilled Secretary of State Dean Rusk for four hours last Friday, gave Foreign Aid Administrator David E. Bell an all-day working over Friday and scheduled more hearings for next week.

Not only will Johnson's trip overshadow any news from the hearings but the President is taking along Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former ambassador to Saigon and presidential adviser, who has been announced as the committee's witness for next Monday.

The makeup of the U.S. party was heavily weighted on the side of officials concerned with diplomatic, economic and social facets of the multimillion-dollar U.S. program to preserve South Viet Nam's independence and transform it into a viable state.

The military situation also will be discussed. But government sources indicated strong doubt that any sharp alterations in course will result.

The renewed bombing of North Viet Nam targets is bound to be a major topic.

So far, the bombing has been restricted to about the same kinds of military targets as were raided before the 37-day pause. These targets have been well south of Hanoi, North Viet Nam's capital.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, top U.S. commander in Viet Nam, will have an opportunity to make a face-to-face pitch, if he wishes, for a higher level of targeting in North Viet Nam.

There have been no recent sharp swings in the tide of the war to cause U.S. authorities any special concern.

Actually, the military course and the buildup of men and materiel in Viet Nam have been pretty well charted already.

Nearly 200,000 American servicemen are in the country with another 70,000 stationed aboard 7th Fleet naval units in the South China Sea area. Thousands more are to be funneled in over the coming months, with some estimates that eventual American fighting strength here will reach as high as 500,000 men.

American officials always have stressed that the war can not be won by military means alone.

But battles and air strikes have tended to push the nonmilitary phases into the background.

One nagging problem the conferees may tackle at Honolulu is that of inflation, which has grown seriously with the heavy influx of U.S. money into the Vietnamese civilian economy.

Over the last 11 years or so U.S. economic aid to Viet Nam has outweighed the military aid. Economic help totaled $3 billion and military assistance $2 billion, not including new requests to Congress.

U.S. To Blunt Famine in India

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has assured India "America will do more than her part" in helping to blunt the drought and famine that have led to growing riots there.

In a gesture of reassurance Friday, the President announced he had ordered stopgap emergency shipments of three million tons of wheat and sorghum within the next three months.

This action was announced at an impromptu news conference after the President had received first-hand reports that India's port facilities could handle up to a million tons of grain a month.

The report was made by Clarence Eskildsen, an Agriculture Department official who surveyed India's food situation for Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman.

Another top-level mission to investigate India's long-range agricultural needs was to leave today. This one is headed by Walter Farr Jr., South Asia and Middle East administrator for the Agency for International Development.

President Johnson told the news conference he expected to meet soon with India's new prime minister, Indira Gandhi. Mrs. Gandhi is expected to come to the United States in March after a budget session of the Indian Parliament. No official date has been set.

Johnson said that this meeting would be aimed at "a further course of action and additional measures we can take to be helpful to our friends, the people of India, and also to talk about things the people of India can do to help their friends, the people of America."

Quake Levels 3 Villages

Tremor Jolts Central Greece

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — A series of earthquakes rocked central Greece before dawn today, killing at least one person, injuring more than 50 and leaving hundreds homeless.

The Greek government declared a state of emergency in the area and sent army rescue teams and medical supplies.

The tremor's epicenter was near Karditsa, about 150 miles northwest of Athens. The towns of Fourni, Alesia and Krenti were totally destroyed and 10 other settlements left 80 per cent uninhabitable, reports said.

A 30-year-old mother of six children died when she was caught in the collapse of her farm house.

Social Welfare Minister Michael Galinos left for the area by helicopter and ordered all available tents sent to shelter the homeless.

Most residents abandoned their homes at the first tremor, shortly after midnight. As they scurried out in the dim light a more severe shock followed seconds later, knocking down many buildings. Some victims were caught in their sleep.

Reports reaching Athens said many of the homeless took refuge in schools and churches. The injured were evacuated to the nearest towns.

National police continued to search debris for more injured. The Athens Seismological Institute said the tremor rolled through the big towns of Trikkala, Larissa, Karditsa and the districts of Magnisia and Ethiotis. The heaviest damage was caused by landslides in small villages surrounding the area.

Police said landslides caused by the quake covered scores of homes with tons of earth and rock. Most residents who fled from their homes after the first tremor managed to escape.

Bishop's Son Is Identified As Suicide

NEW YORK (AP) — Police say a youth identified as the son of Protestant Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike of California killed himself in a Manhattan hotel.

Papers on the body identified the victim as James A. Pike, 22, of San Francisco. He was shot to death in his sixth-floor room at the Hadson Hotel Friday.

News of the death was withheld from Bishop Pike until he had completed an address to the annual convention of the Episcopal Diocese of California, which he heads.

When told he leaped forward and said hoarsely, "Oh, my God!" He quickly regained his composure and said later, "I just don't understand it. The boy seemed reasonably happy."

A spokesman said, "The bishop believes it almost inevitable that the dead boy is his son."

The bishop and his son had returned from England Wednesday. Pike continued to California for the convention and the youth stopped in New York to spend a few days.

Bishop Pike, on a year's sabbatical, has been attending Cambridge University. His son accompanied him to England last September.

Police said the youth's body was found by a bellboy at 1:45 p.m. Friday. He had been shot in the head with a 30-30 rifle.

Federal Judge Throws Out Louisiana Eviction Case

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — A federal judge has thrown out a Justice Department suit against Louisiana plantation owners accused of evicting Negroes for trying to vote.

U.S. Dist. Judge E. Gordon West of Baton Rouge said property rights are sacred and the Voting Rights Act is "flagrantly violative of the Constitution."

The 34-page typewritten decision was filed Friday in the first court test on the voting intimidation section of the Voting Rights Act.

Judge West, a frequent critic of civil rights decisions, said even if he is wrong about the Voting Rights Act being unconstitutional, the government had failed to prove its case against the landowners.

The judge set aside a temporary restraining order issued in December to prevent the West Feliciana Parish landowners from evicting tenants until a decision was reached.

"Congress simply does not have the power, under the authority granted it by the Constitution, to provide for the punishment of purely individual actions tending to interfere with a person's right to vote in state or local elections," he said.

The opinion also said: "If we were to hold for one fleeting moment that, even to protect one's right to vote, a person could, in effect, be deprived of his rights to the undisturbed ownership, possession and use of his own private property, we would be abrogating much more of the Constitution than we would be preserving."

Defendants in the case included Fletcher Tarver, the parish registrar of voters, the firm of Daniel and Truitt, Inc.; R.H.

Daniel Sr., R.H. Daniel Jr.; E.I. Daniel; Jordan Truitt; B.H. Barrow and J.D. Spillman.

During the trial in December, several Negro sharecroppers testified they were forced to move from their tenant farm houses because they registered to vote.

The government accused the six landowners, one farming company and Registrar Harvey with threatening economic reprisals and sometimes firing Negroes who registered.

Until last year, the parish did not have one registered Negro voter, and none had registered for more than a half century. State records showed that at the end of last year, there were 715 Negroes and 754 whites registered.

Federal examiners said they listed about 1,000 other Negroes, but the state withheld registering them pending settlement of legal questions over the federal Voting Rights Act.

On many large plantations, owners provide homes for tenant farmers, assigning them certain tracts to work with 50-50 shares. The owner also provides equipment and seed.

Sentencing Of Ohio Girl Is Delayed

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP) — Dixie Lee Radcliff, 16, was scheduled to be sentenced Monday for compounding a crime and being an accessory after the fact in the deaths of two men.

Instead, she will undergo a special hearing to show "mitigating circumstances" as to her part in the killings.

The Amesville, Ohio, girl's court-appointed attorney won the hearing Friday.

The attorney, William J. Meyers, declined to say what witnesses or how many would be called, or why he sought the special hearing.

Miss Radcliff, daughter of a preacher, had been charged with murder along with Donald Boggs, 23, of Londonderry, Ohio, in the deaths of two New Hampshire men near Ash Fork last Labor Day weekend.

She was allowed to plead guilty to the lesser charges.

Boggs, an ex-convict, has been ordered to die April 22 on his pleas of guilty to first-degree murder.

Allied Pincers Start Closing

4 or 5 Regiments Of Reds Sought

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A giant allied military operation against the Viet Cong in the central coastal plains of South Viet Nam shaped up tonight as the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division committed a second brigade and American Marines on the northern flank started to move south.

On the perimeter of a 15 square mile area were two South Vietnamese airborne units and elements of the South Korean Marines.

The U.S. Marines in the north, a task force of multiple regiment size, has been on the scene as the top end of the mitercracker since an amphibious landing eight days ago.

The air cavalry now is operating on division level, a U.S. Army spokesman said.

What lies between the slowly converging forces may be the biggest prize of the war — four or five regiments of hard-core Viet Cong and North Vietnamese regulars.

The evolution of what could become a huge battle around Bong Son, 200 miles northeast of Saigon, grew out of the 1st Cavalry's successful probes against Viet Cong territory in the past week. The troops found not only hard-core battalions but also one whole North Vietnamese regiment and another regiment which was about half and half of both types.

What once was called Operation Masher chalked up 518 Communist troops killed, 129 captured, 582 suspects detained, a spokesman said, adding that 75 per cent of the suspects have been established as either Viet Cong or highly pro-Viet Cong.

Other ground action was at a comparative minimum in the past 24 hours, but the Air Force and Navy again were active. B52 bombers banged away at Viet Cong hideouts some 40 miles southeast of Saigon.

U.S. Navy planes from the carriers Kitty Hawk and Ranger flew two missions over North Viet Nam. One struck a military target, otherwise undescribed, about 30 miles north of Vinh. The second hit an ammunition depot 25 miles south-east of Dong Hoi.

'Great Imposter' Finds New Life in Monastery

WIEN, Mo. (AP) — Ferdinand and Waldo Demara, nicknamed "The Great Imposter," for successfully impersonating a surgeon, a college professor and a civil engineer, is living as a postulant in an interfaith monastery.

"I expect to stay here the rest of my life," said Demara, 43, Friday when he was interviewed in the quarters of the Brotherhood of Christian Unity. "I have come here to Wien to dedicate my life to Christian unity, to work and prayer," he said. "This is the only interfaith community in the world."

Demara, subject of a book and movie titled, "The Great Imposter," picked a desolate place to hide from the publicity he says follows him whenever he is uncovered. Wien, with a population of 35, is away from major highways in a farming area of northern Missouri. The membership of the brotherhood stands at five.

Father Joseph Starmann, a Roman Catholic priest, founded the brotherhood in 1964. "People have the idea that I went through life thumbing my nose at officialdom," said De-

Saigon Chiefs Due To Join Talks on Various Phases

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson flies to Hawaii today to review the course of the Viet Nam war and to step up the flow of American health, education and farm aid to beleaguered Vietnamese villagers.

The President announced at a news conference in his office Friday that he will hold three days of talks in Honolulu with South Vietnamese leaders and U.S. diplomatic and military officials in South Viet Nam. Johnson will be accompanied by four Cabinet officers and other top advisers.

His announcement came amid renewed congressional criticism of the administration's Viet Nam policies following the refusal of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to testify at a future public session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Among those who will meet with Johnson in Hawaii are South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Gen. William C. Westmoreland. Accompanying Johnson will be Secretary of State Dean Rusk, McNamara, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare John W. Gardner.

Johnson said he would remain in Hawaii until Tuesday night, returning here sometime Wednesday.

The dual military-civilian nature of the complete review Johnson said would be made of the U. S. program held out a promise that the American effort will be rounded out to reach the rice paddy workers some in Congress have been calling the forgotten men of the war.

Johnson made it clear, however, that the meetings are not going to be the prelude to any

Flowers Bob At Scene of Fatal Crash

TOKYO (AP) — Flowers bobbed in the icy waters of Tokyo harbor today where a Japanese jet airliner crashed with 133 persons aboard, three minutes away from a safe landing.

The flowers were dropped by relatives who were taken in a small coastal freighter to the site of what appears to be the worst single plane disaster in history.

The All-Nippon Airways Boeing 727, with 126 passengers and 7 crew members aboard, slammed into the choppy Tokyo harbor as it banked toward its final approach Friday night.

The plane was crowded with Japanese returning from the annual snow festival on Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost island. Most were carrying gaily wrapped souvenirs for family and friends.

Previously, the worst single-plane air disaster was the crash of an Air France Boeing 707 at Orly Field, Paris, June 3, 1962 when 130 persons died.

Cause of the Tokyo crash is still uncertain. Witnesses, including fishermen and seamen in the harbor, reported seeing a huge fireball erupt in the sky. It was not known if the fireball occurred before or after impact.

Frozen Bodies of Trio Found in Stalled Car

CADIZ, Ohio (AP) — The frozen bodies of three men, the victims of carbon monoxide poisoning, were found in their car lodged in a snowbank along a rural road here.

Harrison County Sheriff Harry Bailey identified the men as Lawrence Bell, 46, his brother, Loren, 41, and his cousin Raymond Bell, 25, all of nearby Scio.

The bodies were discovered by a relative, Lowell Gilham, Friday. The gas tank was empty and the ignition was on. Gilham told Bailey.

Bank Fire Spreads, Woman Dies

POMEROY, Ohio (AP) — A fire which started in the First National Bank of Racine spread to two apartments above it late Friday night claimed the life of an 86-year-old woman.

Firemen said the bank and contents of the two apartments were a total loss. Several hours after the flames were brought under control, it still was too hot to venture inside the building to see if the vault or any of the bank's money was lost.

However, bank president Freeland Norris said $40,000 in bonds were destroyed by the flames but that they could be replaced. Norris expressed confidence that none of the $65,000 cash inside the vault was destroyed.

Racine Marshal Alfred Lyons made an attempt to rescue the victim, Mrs. Edith Dunfee. He went into the second - stair apartment during the fire, found her and carried her outside. Oxygen was administered but she already was dead, apparently of smoke inhalation.

Cause of the fire was not determined.

New Federal Budget Trims Grant to OSU

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The federal budget to be submitted to Congress this month cuts land grant funds allotted annually to Ohio State University by 88 per cent, according to university officials.

Gordon B. Carson, vice president for business and finance, said Friday that OSU's 1956-66 grant of $400,000 is cut to $50,000 in the new budget.

Quake Levels 3 Villages

Tremor Jolts Central Greece

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — A series of earthquakes rocked central Greece before dawn today, killing at least one person, injuring more than 50 and leaving hundreds homeless.

The Greek government declared a state of emergency in the area and sent army rescue teams and medical supplies.

The tremor's epicenter was near Karditsa, about 150 miles northwest of Athens. The towns of Founa, Alestia and Krenti were totally destroyed and 10 other settlements left 80 per cent uninhabitable, reports said.

A 30-year-old mother of six children died when she was caught in the collapse of her farm house.

Social Welfare Minister Michael Galinos left for the area by helicopter and ordered all available tents sent to shelter the homeless.

Most residents abandoned their homes at the first tremor, shortly after midnight. As they hurried out in the dim light a more severe shock followed seconds later, knocking down many buildings. Some victims were caught in their sleep.

Reports reaching Athens said many of the homeless took refuge in schools and churches. The injured were evacuated to the nearest towns.

National police continued to search debris for more injured.

The Athens Seismological Institute said the tremor rolled through the big towns of Trikkala, Larissa, Karditsa and the districts of Magnisia and Euboea. The heaviest damage was caused by landslides in small villages surrounding the area.

Police said landslides caused by the quake covered scores of homes with tons of earth and rock. Most residents who fled from their homes after the first tremor managed to escape.

Bishop's Son Is Identified As Suicide

NEW YORK (AP) — Police say a youth identified as the son of Protestant Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike of California killed himself in a Manhattan hotel.

Papers on the body identified the victim as James A. Pike, 22, of San Francisco. He was shot to death in his sixth-floor room at the Hudson Hotel Friday.

News of the death was withheld from Bishop Pike until he had completed an address to the annual convention of the Episcopal Diocese of California, which he heads.

When told he leaned forward and said hoarsely, "Oh, my God!" He quickly regained his composure and said later, "I just don't understand it. The boy seemed reasonably happy."

A spokesman said, "The bishop believes it almost inevitable that the dead boy is his son."

The bishop and his son had returned from England Wednesday. Pike continued to California for the convention and the youth stopped in New York to spend a few days.

Bishop Pike, on a year's sabbatical, has been attending Cambridge University. His son accompanied him to England last September.

Soviet Newspapers Fail To Print Photos of Moon

MOSCOW (AP) — Photos sent from the moon by the Soviet Union's Luna 9 were seen today by newspaper readers almost everywhere except in the Soviet Union.

Soviet officials continued to withhold the pictures from public view. Instead, Soviet newspaper readers saw such headlines as "Dream Coming True" and "We'll Be Seeing You, Moon!"

Papers also published pictures of two pennants aboard the spacecraft and photos of the moon taken through telescopes on earth, but gave no indication when the close-up photos received from Luna 9 would be released.

The Soviet military newspaper Red Star disclosed that the spacecraft had landed slightly off target after its 3½-day flight but gave no further details.

Luna 9's radio began transmitting photographs of the rock-

strewn landscape after the unmanned spacecraft made history's first soft landing on the moon Thursday night.

The British observatory at Jodrell Bank intercepted the signals, fed them through a newspaper's Wirephoto equipment and converted the dots of light and shade into sharp pictures that were then relayed to much of the world.

Sir Bernard Lovell, Jodrell Bank director, said the pictures were "quite sensational." He indicated he was puzzled that Soviet officials released some information on them but did not publish the pictures themselves.

"I don't know the reason for that," he said, "but it is slightly strange in that they have taken the trouble to announce the frequency and transmitted on standard scanning lines."

Lovell said it was possible the Russians deliberately intended to have Jodrell Bank's sensitive, 250-foot-wide radio antenna pick up the photos. "I doubt if the Russians are getting better pictures," he added.

The huge, saucer-shaped radio telescope monitored three complete pictures in 45 minutes. The fourth was of poor quality.

Lovell said Luna 9 apparently was landed so it would be in sunlight for 14 days. Transmission could be expected over that period, he said, but it was not known what would happen after the equipment package was plunged into the lunar night.

Lovell said the first few photographs "tend to confirm the view that the moon's surface is hard, spongy-like and of a pumice stone substance. It would be perfectly satisfactory, not only for the landing of men, but for heavy vehicles."

The scientist said that the dust on the moon's surface seemed to be only a few inches thick in the area photographed.

In Tucson, Ariz., Dr. Gerard Kuiper, chief U.S. experimenter on moon shots, said it was good to hear that the dust was not too deep.

"We don't have to worry about this any more," he said, but added that the jagged lava-like surface was nothing like earth. "No one is going to walk very far on this," he said.

South Shivers As North 'Basks'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An arctic air mass with its core south of Lake Michigan spread freezing temperatures again to the Gulf Coast today.

The middle Canadian border region, traditionally the nation's coldest spot, was warmer than the South.

Cut Bank, Mont., had a reading of 34 above zero an hour after midnight, one degree warmer than Tampa, Fla., where the mercury showed 33. Dickinson, N.D., with 28, was warmer than New Orleans' 26.

At 2 a.m. EST, the lowest official reading was 10 below zero at Terre Haute, Ind. Evansville, Ind., on the Ohio River, had 9 below zero. The sub-zero zone covered upper Michigan, Eastern Wisconsin and Illinois and south and central Indiana.

Flowers Bob At Scene of Fatal Crash

TOKYO (AP) — Flowers bobbed in the icy waters of Tokyo harbor today where a Japanese jet airliner crashed with 133 persons aboard, three minutes away from a safe landing.

The flowers were dropped by relatives who were taken in a small coastal freighter to the site of what appears to be the worst single plane disaster in history.

The All-Nippon Airways Boeing 727, with 126 passengers and 7 crew members aboard, slammed into the choppy Tokyo harbor as it banked toward its final approach Friday night.

The plane was crowded with Japanese returning from the annual snow festival on Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost island. Most were carrying gaily wrapped souvenirs for family and friends.

Previously, the worst single-plane air disaster was the crash of an Air France Boeing 707 at Orly Field, Paris, June 3, 1962 when 130 persons died.

Cause of the Tokyo crash is still uncertain. Witnesses, including fishermen and seamen in the harbor, reported seeing a huge fireball erupt in the sky. It was not known if the fireball occurred before or after impact.

Frozen Bodies of Trio Found in Stalled Car

CADIZ, Ohio (AP) — The frozen bodies of three men, the victims of carbon monoxide poisoning, were found in their car lodged in a snowbank along a rural road near here.

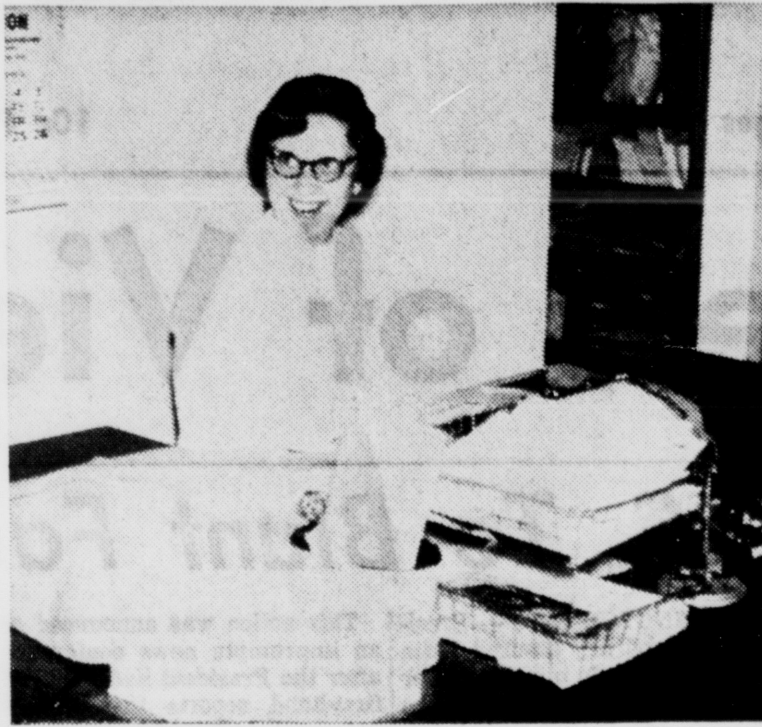

Harrison County Sheriff Harry Bailey identified the men as Lawrence Bell, 46, his brother, Loren, 41, and his cousin Raymond Bell, 25, all of nearby Scioto.

The bodies were discovered by a relative, Lowell Gilham, Friday. The gas tank was empty and the ignition was on. Gilham told Bailey.

Extension Office Set for Open House at New Quarters

TWO DOORS WEST — George Hamrick, County Extension agent, answers the phone in his new office, located "two doors west of the Courthouse." A week-long open house is planned, beginning Monday, to acquaint the public with the new quarters.

WELCOME — Weta Mae Leist, secretary at the Pickaway County Extension office, sits at her desk in the new Extension headquarters on W. Franklin St.

GETTING READY — Judy Chapman, Pickaway Home demonstration agent, cleans snow from the sidewalks in preparation for next week's open house. The new Extension office is located in the former Dr. E. S. Shane offices, 137 W. Franklin St. Judy noted that shoveling snow is not a "homemaker's job."

4-H AGENT — James Helt, Pickaway County 4-H agent, will be greeting callers in his new location at the Extension office open house.

Averaging May Save Tax Dollars

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Area farmers who have a wide fluctuation in income from year to year may be able to save tax dollars by taking advantage of income averaging, according to Carl R. Blue, Area Extension agent, farm management.

To be eligible to use income tax averaging, an individual must have an income in 1965 of more than $3,000, and the 1965 farm income must exceed 133 per cent of their average base period, consisting of the four immediately preceding tax years. All individuals using the method must also have been a citizen or resident of the United States for the past five years, and have furnished 50 per cent or more of their support during the four-year base period.

The total taxable income for the four base years must be adjusted for income earned outside of the United States or within U. S. possessions, less any capital gain net income, and income from gifts.

Farmers who report their taxable income on the cash basis will generally have a greater income variance from year to year. Income averaging may be an advantage to some hog producers in the area, especially if they were hurt by the 1964 drought, resulting in a lower income for 1964, and then realizing a higher income in 1965 because of higher hog prices.

Persons interested in income averaging procedures should obtain a copy of Schedule G, Form 1040, from the Internal Revenue Service or the local post office. This form gives instructions for income averaging. This procedure will be advantageous to only farmers who have a great fluctuation in income over the past five years.

DR. LEWIS C. SABOE will discuss grain crop recommendations and Dr. Edward W. Stroube, will discuss recommended forage crop varieties and production practices.

The need for effective soil and water management to increase the water available for crop production will be emphasized by Samuel W. Bone.

Alfred J. Baxter, Area Extension agent, Agronomy, will discuss lime and fertilizer requirements for crop yields necessary for maximum net returns.

Piecemeal eating and even skipping meals entirely seems to be coming more and more a way of life.

A noted anthropologist recently stated that our children are growing up with the expectation that the family doesn't just stop for gas . . . it stops for gas and pop. A person doesn't just bowl or skate . . . he bowls and has a cup of coffee or eats a hotdog. A boy doesn't just wait for a bus . . . he waits and eats a candy bar.

Of course, vending machines, refrigerators, increased leisure hours and new gadgets have merely increased this push towards frequent unplanned eating. The business world's adoption of the daily "coffee break" usually consists of coffee with a sweet roll or doughnut.

Yes, that's the situation and whether or not you should permit this in your home is purely a personal decision. Realistically, it would be pretty difficult to do away with snacking entirely in our society where food plays such an important role in hospitality.

It is not, however, the frequency of eating that is concerning nutritionists today. Research studies have indicated that those foods eaten most often as snacks are not chosen from the Basic 4 Food Groups. All foods eaten — whether at mealtime or for a snack — contribute to the total food intake. It is for this reason that we need to improve the quality of foods chosen as snacks. As homemakers, it is our job to make nutritious foods tempting as snack suggestions.

Every day is the season for African violets and they are particularly welcome during the winter months when other flowers are not in bloom. You may be interested in some hints for their care.

If you plant has small gnarled leaves at the center, the plant could be invaded by cyclamen mites. Apply sodium selenate and follow package directions. White cottony masses on the leaves probably indicate mealy bugs, which can be eliminated by using Malathion spray or foam also, according to manufacturers' instructions. When using foam, hold the aerosol can 18" from the plant to prevent freeze burn.

Overwatering could cause leaves to appear limp, lack color, or stop growth. Be sure the soil dries between waterings and never let the plant stand in water. If more careful watering doesn't help, destroy the plant including the soil, because this may mean microscopic roundworms, called nematodes, are at work.

Cold water or drafts cause white blotches or streaks to appear on the leaves. So when watering, use water at room temperature or don't let the cold water touch the leaves. Keep the plant out of drafts. If other conditions seem satisfactory, violets that fail to flower may not be getting enough light.

Generally, your plants will stay healthy if you keep them out of drafts and in a temperature at about 65-75 degrees, and water then whenever the soil feels dry, never letting them stand in water. African violets don't need direct sunlight, but put them where they'll get a fair amount of light. For violets of exhibition quality, provide a fluorescent lighted area in the basement or spare room. Use either daylight or cool white tubes in a 2-tube 40 watt fluorescent fixture about 1 foot above the plants. Give the plants light for about 18 hours a day.

That's right — the latest item soon to be found on your grocer's shelf is instant applesauce. It will be in the form of apple flakes that mix instantly with water to make sauce — and also for cake and dessert mixes and dry cereals containing the flakes.

Stable Wheat Situation To Be U.S. World Goal

By OVID MARTIN
AP Farm Editor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is expected to press during the months ahead for some strengthening of international machinery for stabilizing prices and supplies of wheat.

Since 1949, major exporting and most importing countries have been parties to an international wheat agreement designed to accomplish such stability.

The agreement expires July 31 and sessions will be held soon in a move to draft an extension, possibly with some changes, and get the necessary approval of participating countries.

The agreement seeks to maintain supply and price stability through assistance of maximum and minimum prices in world markets and of export quotas for supplying nations and import quotas for countries requiring outside supplies.

The agreement, in other words seeks to divide world markets among exporting countries and thus hold to a minimum competition for markets.

The pact has not worked out to the full satisfaction of American wheat growers and their government. A major reason is that not all exporting nations have cooperated in the maintenance of stable supplies and prices. Some have moved to under cut markets of competing nations.

The brunt of the test of trying to prevent world overproduction and accumulation of surpluses has been borne by this country and Canada. The United States has carried the major load by maintaining production limitations on its own farmers.

While Canada has not imposed controls on her growers, she has been much more willing to hold back supplies which, if placed on markets, would have brought much lower prices than have prevailed and possibly a wheat war in the export market.

Argentina, Australia and France have been the principal countries that have not participated in voluntary stock withholding and price strengthening efforts.

This is one of the reasons why some U. S. farm groups—particularly the American Farm Bureau Federation — have urged that the agreement be allowed to expire and that this country go it alone and fight for bigger grain markets.

The new "Ohio Agronomy Guide — 1966," will be introduced at a Crop Production Clinic Feb. 18 at the Fairgrounds 4-H and Grange Building, according to George Hamrick, County Extension agent. This is the first edition of the booklet which is published by The Ohio Cooperative Extension Service, Ohio State University.

Contained in this comprehensive publication are the agronomy recommendations for 1966 based on the latest research from the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center and other research institutions. Recommendations of corn, soybean and forage varieties, hybrids, rates and dates of seeding, fertility needs, weed control and other production practices are included.

Other features are the soil and water management recommendations for maximum yields and the yield potential of specific soil types.

Hamrick and four agrono-

U.S. Agriculture 'Hall of Fame' Lists 27 Names

WASHINGTON (AP) — The father of soil conservation, a famed horticulturist, the inventor of the grain reaper, one U.S. president and a Negro scientist born a slave.

These are among the 27 agriculture greats whose pictures cover a wall in a House Agriculture Committee room. They range in time from Thomas Jefferson, the third president, to Henry Wallace, secretary of agriculture 1933-40, who died last year. There is even one woman, Louise Stanley, first chief of the Agriculture Department's Bureau of Home Economics.

You might call this group an agricultural Hall of Fame. A plaque by the pictures reads, "Men and Milestones in American Agriculture."

The idea for the grouping came from Frank LeMay, long-time staff consultant on the committee. The selections were made with the advice of Dr. Wayne D. Rasmussen, agricultural Department historian, and Dr. Walter W. Wilcox, agricultural specialist of the Library of Congress. No living persons were considered.

LeMay says the display of pictures "is only representative of the great men and women of years past — those architects of abundance — who have made our agriculture the most efficient in the world and our people the best fed of any nation."

"There is not enough wall space around the Congress to accommodate a gallery of all of those, now passed on, who brought about our miracles of abundance," he says.

Here are some of those whose pictures line the wall:

Thomas Jefferson (1743-1826), Virginia farmer, soil conservationist and agricultural spokesman.

Edmund Ruffin (1794-1865), America's first soil scientist, editor of the first Virginia Farm Journal.

Cyrus H. McCormick (1809-1894), a Virginian who in 1831 patented a grain reaper — among the most significant inventions in American farming.

Justi S. Morrill (1810-1898), a senator and representative from Vermont who was known as "the father of the land-grant colleges."

Isaac Newton (1800-1867), Pennsylvania dairy farmer who became the first national farm organization, the Patrons of Husbandry, popularly known as the Grange.

Oliver Hudson Kelley (1826-1913), a Minnesotan who in 1867 organized the first national farm organization, the Patrons of Husbandry, popularly known as the Grange.

Liberty Hyde Bailey (1858-1954), a Michigan native and long-time Cornell University horticulturist, who served as chairman of the President's Country Life Commission 1908-1909.

George Washington Carver (1864-1943), born into slavery in Missouri, this Negro, a Tuskegee Institute scientist in Alabama, devoted his life to the improvement of Southern agriculture and the development of industrial uses for farm products.

Gifford Pinchot (1865-1946), first chief of the U.S. Forest Service and national leader in the conservation movement.

Luther Burbank (1849-1926), California naturalist and horticulturist who originated the Burbank potato and many new varieties of fruits, vegetables, grains, flowers and trees.

Louise Stanley (1883-1954), a Tennessean who left the University of Missouri to become the first chief of the U.S. Agriculture Department's Bureau of Home Economics.

Charles L. McNary (1874-1944), senator from Oregon 1917-1944, who introduced major legislation to aid farmers and to conserve forests.

George W. Norris (1861-1944), a representative and senator from Nebraska 1903-1943, author of the Tennessee Valley Authority Act.

George N. Peek (1873-1943), an Illinois farm machinery manufacturer who led the fight during the 1920's for equality for agriculture and later served as the first agricultural adjustment administrator.

Hugh Hammond Bennett (1881-1960), a North Carolinian who was the long-time head of the Agriculture Department's Soil Conservation Service.

John D. Black (1883-1960), a native of Wisconsin and an economist at the University of Minnesota and Harvard University, whose ideas influenced legislation and the development of farm programs.

Clarence Poe (1881-1964), a North Carolinian who was editor of a leading farm journal and a leader in the humanistic approach to farm problems.

Henry Agard Wallace (1888-1965), U.S. vice president 1941-1945, Force colonel, lead as comfortable and fun-filled lives as one could imagine. In fact, one of the big jokes of the show is that people try to break into, not out of, the camp.

Farmers Aid In Control of Soybean Price

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's soybean growers are working effectively on their own to help the government support prices of this big oilseed crop.

They have stored on their farms more soybeans from last year's record crop than ever before. This has been mainly with the idea of spreading marketing longer for higher prices than if the bulk of the crop were sold early in the harvest season.

An Agriculture Department report showed today that Chicago soybean prices had advanced from $2.49 a bushel in October to $2.83 in January this year. In mid-January, grower prices for the nation averaged $2.67 a bushel compared with the government price support of $2.25.

The report said soybean farm stocks on Jan. 1, 1966, totaled 284 million bushels, or about 34 per cent of the 1965 crop. This compares with the year-earlier total of 192 million bushels and 27 per cent.

John Byers Transferred By Du Pont

John W. Byers of 597 N. Court St., a laboratory supervisor at Du Pont's Circleville plant, has been transferred to the company's Textile Fibers plant in Camden, S. C.

Byers joined Du Pont in 1932 as a chemist at the company's film plant in Clinton, Ia. Other assignments included manufacturing foreman, control foreman and later manufacturing shift supervisor at the Tecumseh plant in Kansas.

He was assigned to the Circleville installation in 1960 as a manufacturing shift supervisor. He also served as a research chemist in "Teflon" and "Kapton" labs.

Byers is a graduate of Drake University where he was awarded a bachelor degree in chemistry. He served with the U. S. Army Signal Corps in the South Pacific during World War II.

The laboratory official and his wife, Harriet, have five children, Cynthia, Kerry, Janet, Christopher and Mark. They are members of St. Joseph's Church.

45, Iowa farm editor and hybrid corn breeder, who, as secretary of agriculture 1933-40, initiated programs still in effect to improve the standard of living of farm people and to increase agriculture's contribution to the nation.

4-H Club News By JAMES R. HELT County Extension Agent, 4-H

One group of 4-H club members in the state and county definitely are beetle fans. They are intensely interested in beetle sound effects, appearance and personal habits.

Some of the beetles light up at night. Others chew their way through potato crops, rugs, flowers, corn and others suck the sap from plants and animals. Then there's the beetle named June who makes a big noise at night bouncing off screen doors and windows.

The beetle fans are young boys and girls learning about the most abundant form of animal life, insects. Many people call them bugs. In fact, there are more kinds of insects known than there are of all other animals and all plants put together. In our country there are more than 80,000 different kinds.

Members of 4-H learn about these insects in the entomology project called Buckeye Bug Catcher. The project calls for a curiosity to learn more about insects swarming around every home, farm, and community. It also quickly teaches the new entomologist which are the good and bad of the vast insect world.

Members learn that insects are important to all of us, and they influence our lives in some way every day. They destroy our buildings, kill our animals, eat our crops, and even feed on people.

The project is also an opportunity to explore career opportunities in entomology. You will find it a very fascinating and exciting field.

Awards are sponsored by the Hercules Powder Company. A maximum of four gold-filled medals of honor are awarded to 4-H members within the county. The state award is an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress. Scholarships of $500 each will be awarded to six 4-H members in the nation.

Activity in 4-H involves members, parents, volunteer adult advisors and supporting groups. Success of a club is dependent upon the interest and zeal of its members, the backing and encouragement of the parents, the competence and dedication of its advisers and the understanding and support of the community.

Donors — corporations and foundations — contributed more than one million dollars in support of the 4-H program in 1964 in the United States.

The Madison Livewires 4-H club will hold its achievement and organizational meeting Monday at 7:30 p. m. in Walnut Twp. School. Young people and parents from Madison Twp. interested in livestock are welcomed. Wayne Brown and Warren Kinsell are the 4-H advisers.

Walnut Stitches
The club will hold their first meeting of the year 7 p. m. Feb. 15 at Walnut School. All interested girls, along with their mothers, are invited.

Girls living in the Walnut School district between the ages of 10 (or 4th grade) and 20 will be eligible for membership.

Mrs. Frank Carpenter and Mrs. Royce Woolever will serve as advisers.

The club held its first meeting Jan. 24.

Advisers, Dorwin Hay and

Vaughan Dresback gave an outline of projects members will try to do throughout the coming year.

There were 13 present, plus Jim Helt of the Extension office. Refreshments were served by the advisers after the recreation period.

Officers this year are: Jerry Jenkins, president; Kay Hay, vice president; Sandra Sanderson, secretary; Jill Butt, treasurer; Larry Peters and Mark Phillips, news reporters.

Walnut Wonder Workers

The first meeting was held at Walnut School Jan. 27. There were 28 members present.

The meeting was called to order by president James Barr. Election of officers was held. New officers are: Dean Barr, President; Neil Fosnough, vice president; James Barr, treasurer; Ricky Pontius, secretary; Jerry Hines, recreation leader; Mike Thomas, Circleville news reporter; Jack Brinker, Ashville news reporter; and Mike Perrill, sergeant-at-arms.

The next meeting will be Feb. 10.

Pettit's New Scout Gear Distributor

Pettit's Appliance Store has been named authorized distributor for official Boy Scout and Cub Scout uniforms, equipment and literature in Pickaway County, according to Ben Brian, district committee chairman for the Pickaway District, Boy Scouts of America.

A section of the store at 130 S. Court St., has been converted into a scouting center where a complete line of authorized apparel and accessories is on display. A full range of sizes in uniform articles will be maintained in order to prevent delays which arise when items must be special ordered.

Richard Pettit, store owner, said. To acquaint boys and their parents with the new scout center, an open house will be conducted during Boy Scout Week, February 7-13. As a special feature during this period, Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts who present their 1965-66 membership cards will be eligible to win prizes that will be awarded at the end of the week.

The prizes are: first — choice of a sleeping bag, tent, or a complete official Boy Scout or Cub Scout uniform; second — Boy Scout camera and flash outfit; third — scout canteen; fourth — Cub Scout or Boy Scout knife; fifth — Boy Scout ring; sixth — Cub Scout ring.

Views on TV - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — As most of Hollywood's television producers look back on it, World War II was a lot of fun and laughs.

Today's youngster, confronted with five current shows about military life during the war, might be forgiven if he concluded that the Allies won the war by some gigantic piece of luck.

The routine Hollywood concept of war in comedy is that:

1. The high brass consisted of a bunch of apologetic, incompetent boobies primarily interested in promotion.

2. Enlisted men were almost invariably fun-loving, joke-cracking, gold-bricking — and larcenous, but in a cute way, of course.

3. The enemy consisted either of some awfully nice fellows who really didn't want to hurt anybody — or were complete idiots.

The captain of "McHale's Navy," one popular series, is a vain, trigger-tempered fellow whose prime interest in life, besides a promotion, is catching McHale and his PT boat crew in the wrong. And the crew members, who act more like a band of pirates than U.S. gobs, concentrate more on black-market deals involving the mayor of an Italian town than on winning the war. In past seasons, when the show was set on a Pacific island, they occasionally shot down or sank an enemy plane or ship, but usually by mistake.

The commanding officer in last season's "Broadside," now expired, was a silly sybarite totally concentrated on planning gourmet meals and guarding the temperature of his wine cellar. His hobby was throwing darts at a board carrying a picture of his wife.

"The Wackiest Ship in the Army" is based on the old Quirt-Flag relationship of a comedy about another war. Now it is set on a creaky sailing ship in the Pacific on intelligence missions under the noses of gentle enemy who think the vessel too obviously innocent to waste ammunition on.

"Gomer Pyle" consists of the misadventures of a slack-jawed hillbilly in the Marines and his fierce, foolish sergeant. But this one has a contemporary setting at a U.S. military camp. Obviously, a bumbling Marine would not seem funny in a background of a real war, such as Viet Nam, at a time when fighting men are being killed.

In "Hogan's Heroes," a current hit, the setting is a World War II prisoner of war camp in Germany. The camp head, a burlesque of the Prussian officer, obviously is no Nazi — in fact he's scared of them. And the guard is a low-comedy dumptop with a vaudeville accent — and he's positively lovable.

The prisoners of war themselves, led by a jaunty Air Force colonel, lead as comfortable and fun-filled lives as one could imagine. In fact, one of the big jokes of the show is that people try to break into, not out of, the camp.

LeMay says the display of pictures "is only representative of the great men and women of years past — those architects of abundance — who have made our agriculture the most efficient in the world and our people the best fed of any nation."

"There is not enough wall space around the Congress to accommodate a gallery of all of those, now passed on, who brought about our miracles of abundance," he says.

Here are some of those whose pictures line the wall:

A full range of sizes in uniform articles will be maintained in order to prevent delays which arise when items must be special ordered. Richard Pettit, store owner, said.

To acquaint boys and their parents with the new scout center, an open house will be conducted during Boy Scout Week, February 7-13. As a special feature during this period, Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts who present their 1965-66 membership cards will be eligible to win prizes that will be awarded at the end of the week.

The prizes are: first — choice of a sleeping bag, tent, or a complete official Boy Scout or Cub Scout uniform; second — Boy Scout camera and flash outfit; third — scout canteen; fourth — Cub Scout or Boy Scout knife; fifth — Boy Scout ring; sixth — Cub Scout ring.

Larry Adams Makes Morehead Dean's List

Larry Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Adams 116 Parkview Ave., has been named to the Dean's List at Morehead State College, Morehead, Ky., for the first semester.

Majoring in political science and physical education, Adams maintained a point hour average of 3.12. He is a sophomore.

Uncle Nelson is governor of New York, as a Republican, like the rest of the super-wealthy family. John D. IV has been a social worker in the area for year and a half.

10,000 Chairs Counted In This Man's Home

NORWICH, Conn. (AP) — Looking for a place to sit down is no problem at the house of Alix Cohn. He owns 10,000 chairs.

Not only that, but the 57-year-old man has washtubs, tractors, bicycles, banjos, beds and button hooks—you name it—in the five-story building he calls home.

The spillover is stored outside, and includes a three-ton water trough for horses.

Cold Stops Crime

MIAMI (AP) — Miami Police Sgt. Robert Montana believes cold weather puts a freeze on crime.

During one chilly weekend, he said, the city had only 13 major crimes during a 14-hour period. Usually Miami has 45 or 50 such crimes on a Saturday or Sunday.

For James Marlow
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson gingerly plumped on the doorstep of Congress a monumental share of the wealth plan that outlines even his own "Great Society" vision — and quietly tiptoed away.

So vast is the 210-page proposal to reshape the American economy that Johnson reportedly shied like a Texas stallion from linking himself with it at a time he seeks $13 billion to press the war in Viet Nam.

"I think the White House was quite alarmed," said Joseph A. Beirne, a member of a little-noted presidential commission that dropped the blockbuster report in Johnson's lap.

Just one of some 75 major proposals in the report — a guaranteed minimum annual income for every American family — would cost up to $20 billion a year alone.

Beirne, president of the AFL-CIO Communications Workers of America, is one of five members of the 14-member commission which the nation should put the same urgent priority on a massive social and economic revolution that it does on fighting Communists in Viet Nam.

The United States can afford both, he said.

Beirne, miffed at the way the White House suddenly issued the report without a word of endorsement, said he believed Johnson — or his advisers — feared it would give further ammunition to Republican efforts to cut back "Great Society" programs because of the war.

Although the White House didn't send a single copy of the report to key members of Congress — a usual courtesy — early reaction confirmed this fear. "I think the Congress will take a close look before they expand any 'Great Society' programs," said Rep. William H. Ayres of Ohio, top Republican on the House Labor Committee which will consider the huge economic proposal.

"Frankly, I think we should be spending more time worrying about our boys in Viet Nam," said Ayres.

But Rep. Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky., cautiously endorsed the guaranteed minimum income idea.

Not even Perkins, No. 2 Democrat on the Labor Committee, or Chairman Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., got a copy of the huge economic report.

Nor, in issuing the report of the National Commission on Technology, Automation and Economic Progress, was there any of the usual White House fanfare accompanying a major document — no picture posing of the President with the commission, no television cameras — and little explanation.

"They just handed us this massive report and then asked if we had any questions," blinked one bemused veteran White House reporter.

Beirne said he thought the White House was "alarmed" both by the vast scope of the report in charting a 10-year economic plan, and by the unanimous recommendations of the labor, big business, civil rights and university representatives on the blue-ribbon panel.

The commission's recommendations on how the nation can "invent the future" are too numerous to list in full, but a few are:

Two years of free college education for every youngster, a national council to "monitor" American economic and social goals, a federal computer system to match men and jobs in the nation's rapidly changing labor market, completely federalizing the present federal-state employment service, and massive federal aid to fight air and water pollution, improve transportation and housing.

"There is enough in this program for 10 years of work if the nation will tackle it," said Beirne, but "they're all tough political decisions."

Jumping to Some Conclusions

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions: America, which leads the world in so many fields, has produced few native-born master pickpockets. As a people, we lack the patience and pride in grace to rise to the top in this profession. It takes more skill to be a successful pickpocket than a successful halfback.

Nine out of 10 persons, asked to name our most valuable farm crop, would name wheat. It's corn.

More men tell the truth about themselves to their lawyers than to their ministers. They feel that if they can just solve the problem of staying out of jail now they can worry later about how to get into heaven.

The surest way to fame on earth is to coin a new cliché.

Hangnails seem to be an affliction among young folks. I never met a man or woman over 60 who complained about them.

A boy today may know more for his age than his grandfather did, but he certainly doesn't play as good a game of marbles.

At a Manhattan cocktail party there are always more guests who can explain our foreign policy than can tell exactly how many faucets there are on an ordinary milk cow.

There must be some kind of hidden symbolism in the fact that in this age of conformity the poodle has become America's most popular purebred dog. The bulldog is pretty far down the list, well below the tiny Chihuahua.

Almost all midgets dislike children — except their own. It's hard for them to put up with the pity of grownups, even harder to endure the unthinking laughter of someone their own size.

The biggest change in medicine is the emphasis on color rather than taste. A generation or so ago the worse a medicine tasted the better it was. Now a doctor who prescribes medicine that comes in a white capsule is likely to lose patronage. The customers feel capsules have to have two or three colors to do any real good. And the more dramatic the colors, the quicker the cure.

Tourists always get a romantic thrill out of buying a bag of roasted chestnuts from a street vendor here. Reality intervenes when they munch the first chestnut. Then they throw the bag away — and rarely buy another.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — Voluntary economic controls are being increasingly stressed and seem due to be expanded. These are the weapons the administration is trusting will keep prosperity in line.

Some voluntary efforts aren't working too well today. Other guidelines on how business, labor, banks, and consumers should behave may meet stiffer resistance and more evasion unless they become more formal and less voluntary.

But some voluntary control — chiefly in pricing and in overseas investing — have worked pretty well so far. And the administration is reported seeking to use these techniques more and more.

It says such voluntary compliance with guidelines would ward off inflation and help prevent any overheating of the U.S. economy. The unprecedented peacetime expansion now is set to enter its sixth straight year.

President Johnson is appealing again to labor unions to hold wage demands within the limits the administration says won't force prices to rise. Some labor leaders have frankly said they would disregard such wage guidelines. And some labor contracts last year exceeded the proposed limits of a 3.2 per cent rise.

The President also is appealing again to businessmen to hold down prices even when rising demand and swindling supplies of their products would permit price increases under the old law of supply and demand.

Critics of the government guidelines and their operation have described voluntary controls as part persuasion and part arm twisting. Business leaders have been urged to comply in the public interest. And on occasion the government has fallen back on less voluntary tactics, such as threatening to release its surplus stock of some materials in its strategic stockpiles.

The administration credits voluntary controls with trimming the outflow of U.S. dollars to foreign lands last year. Corporation chiefs agreed to hold down overseas investments. Bankers were given a strict quota for trimming loans for foreign enterprises.

At home, the rising torrent of credit — borrowing by business and by consumers — has caused some uneasiness among Washington monetary authorities.

A positive step toward curbing the trend was tried in December when interest rates began to rise all along the line.

Recently, monetary authorities have increasingly urged bankers to keep a close watch on the quality of their loans. Voluntary controls could enter this picture if bankers were to be given guidelines for holding down loans, especially those often called questionable.

The trouble with such voluntary action is that most lenders have sizable sums to invest, that the demand for loans at the higher interest rates continues unabated, and that the other administration goal of continuing expansion of the economy seems to call for more credit for expanding enterprises.

U.S., Canadian, Russian, Norwegian and Danish bear experts are investigating the problem. Old P. B. may be out in the cold, but, obviously, he's not exactly friendless.

Let's all hope the critters are saved, because a polar bear was intended by nature to decorate an iceberg and not someone's living room floor.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

The admonition "take it easy" may not be a most beneficial one to prevent coronary heart attacks.

The modern age of electric devices to spare one unnecessary steps of activity is now being accused of causing rather than preventing heart disease.

Fifty-five thousand men between the ages of 25 and 64 were chosen because they, like so many millions of others, live a quiet sedentary life free from exercise or physical activity. May limit their energies to an occasional trip to the refrigerator at the half of a televised game.

Dr. Charles W. Frank, of the Albert Einstein College of Medicine in New York, states, "With reduction in work hours and increase in leisure time, off job activities are becoming an increasing part of the total life pattern."

Dr. Frank's study, under the Health Insurance Plan of New York, has shown that active men have a greater chance of surviving a heart attack than those who are consistently inactive.

It also showed that there was a greater frequency and severity of heart attacks in the less active group of men.

The conclusion reached was definite. "Early mortality and severity of heart attacks were strongly related to the level of physical activity." The least active men had twice the likelihood to develop and to succumb to a heart attack than the most active.

Although the scientific explanation for this has not yet been established, it is believed that physical activity influences the general body tone and produces protective factors against the complication of heart attacks.

Dr. Paul D. White of Boston has for many years been the enthusiastic advocate of well-regulated, moderate exercise for better health. Virtually, no age should contraindicate some exercise. The kind, frequency and arduousness of exercise should, of course, be suggested and troilled by the physician.

Does overweight increase the possibility of a heart attack?

To live in anticipation of a heart attack, or any disease, is a waste of human potential. Yet the mature person must be now know that obesity is a definite additional threat to health. Overweight is probably the greatest single health hazard.

The heart overburdened by excess weight most certainly can fall easier victim to attack.

Does tobacco affect the heart after recovery from a heart attack?

There is absolute, undeniable evidence that tobacco places an additional burden on the entire cardiovascular system. After an attack, the heart should be spared this additional encumbrance and be given the greatest opportunity to regain its strength.

The psychologist insists that there are self-destructive forces working in those people who, against advice, persist in smoking after a heart attack.

For the heart's sake, stop smoking.

Diabetes can be controlled. A simple blood and urine test can be the greatest investment in continued health.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

AT THE ZENITH of his spectacular career, Cole Porter was signed by MGM to write an original score for a movie entitled "Rosalia." The songs he turned in delighted Prexy Louis B. Mayer—but Mayer then decided there was one thing still lacking—a real showstopper—the kind of song everybody would be humming when they left the theater.

The obliging Cole Porter made six attempts to give Mayer what he wanted, but was turned down each time. Disgusted, Porter banged out attempt number seven—as corny a melody as he could think of, with lyrics that made him blush with embarrassment. Of course, this parody Louis B. Mayer loved—and it became the feature song of the picture. Then the public was heard from. They loved it, too! It leaped to Number One on the Hit Parade.

Six months later, Cole Porter confessed to Irving Berlin, "I wrote that song, 'Rosalia,' in hate—and I still hate it." Berlin answered, "Listen, Kid, take my advice. Never hate a song that has sold over half a million copies."

Golf fanatic Mandelbaum had to drop out of his regular four-some one Sunday because his wife insisted that he play a round with her. After twelve strokes on the first hole, she still was left with a 20-foot putt. She waggled her club nervously and announced, "If I sink this putt, I'll kill myself." Mr. Mandelbaum promptly answered, "I concede the putt."

An abandoned army barracks in Spokane has been reopened as an art gallery—named, naturally, "Avant-Garde House."

Let's all hope the critters are saved, because a polar bear was intended by nature to decorate an iceberg and not someone's living room floor.

In the Hawaiian language, there is no word for weather. Factographs. This is hard to believe — judging by what all the returning tourists from the island state, it's "Wonderful!"

There are 690 different shades of green — we read. However, there's one that is prettier than all the rest — the hue our front lawn turns in spring.

An after-dinner speaker, declares the man at the next desk is a fellow who talks in someone else's sleep.

There's one thing that can be said about an early February Sunday — you don't need to worry about which you'd rather do — play golf or take a nice, cooling drive in the country.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

The admonition "take it easy" may not be a most beneficial one to prevent coronary heart attacks.

The modern age of electric devices to spare one unnecessary steps of activity is now being accused of causing rather than preventing heart disease.

Fifty-five thousand men between the ages of 25 and 64 were chosen because they, like so many millions of others, live a quiet sedentary life free from exercise or physical activity. May limit their energies to an occasional trip to the refrigerator at the half of a televised game.

Dr. Charles W. Frank, of the Albert Einstein College of Medicine in New York, states, "With reduction in work hours and increase in leisure time, off job activities are becoming an increasing part of the total life pattern."

Dr. Frank's study, under the Health Insurance Plan of New York, has shown that active men have a greater chance of surviving a heart attack than those who are consistently inactive.

It also showed that there was a greater frequency and severity of heart attacks in the less active group of men.

The conclusion reached was definite. "Early mortality and severity of heart attacks were strongly related to the level of physical activity." The least active men had twice the likelihood to develop and to succumb to a heart attack than the most active.

Although the scientific explanation for this has not yet been established, it is believed that physical activity influences the general body tone and produces protective factors against the complication of heart attacks.

Dr. Paul D. White of Boston has for many years been the enthusiastic advocate of well-regulated, moderate exercise for better health. Virtually, no age should contraindicate some exercise. The kind, frequency and arduousness of exercise should, of course, be suggested and trolled by the physician.

Does overweight increase the possibility of a heart attack?

To live in anticipation of a heart attack, or any disease, is a waste of human potential. Yet the mature person must be now know that obesity is a definite additional threat to health. Overweight is probably the greatest single health hazard.

The heart overburdened by excess weight most certainly can fall easier victim to attack.

Does tobacco affect the heart after recovery from a heart attack?

There is absolute, undeniable evidence that tobacco places an additional burden on the entire cardiovascular system. After an attack, the heart should be spared this additional encumbrance and be given the greatest opportunity to regain its strength.

The psychologist insists that there are self-destructive forces working in those people who, against advice, persist in smoking after a heart attack.

For the heart's sake, stop smoking.

Diabetes can be controlled. A simple blood and urine test can be the greatest investment in continued health.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

AT THE ZENITH of his spectacular career, Cole Porter was signed by MGM to write an original score for a movie entitled "Rosalie." The songs he turned in delighted Prexy Louis B. Mayer—but Mayer then decided there was one thing still lacking—a real show-stopper—the kind of song everybody would be humming when they left the theater.

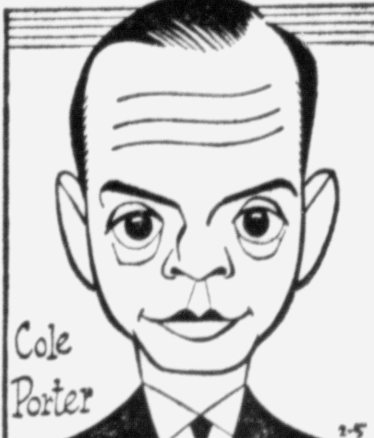

The obliging Cole Porter made six attempts to give Mayer what he wanted, but was turned down each time. Disgusted, Porter banged out attempt number seven—as corny a melody as he could think of, with lyrics that made him blush with embarrassment. Of course, this parody Louis B. Mayer loved—and it became the feature song of the picture. Then the public was heard from. They loved it, too! It leaped to Number One on the Hit Parade.

Six months later, Cole Porter confessed to Irving Berlin, "I wrote that song, 'Rosalie,' in hate—and I still hate it." Berlin answered, "Listen, kid, take my advice. Never hate a song that has sold over half a million copies."

Golf fanatic Mandelbaum had to drop out of his regular four-some one Sunday because his wife insisted that he play a round with her. After twelve strokes on the first hole, she still was left with a 20-foot putt. She wagged her club nervously and announced, "If I sink this putt, I'll kill myself." Mr. Mandelbaum promptly answered, "I concede the putt."

An abandoned army barracks in Spokane has been reopened as an art gallery—named, naturally, "Avant-Garde House."

Looking Back in Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

It was announced that 23 new films were available this month at the Pickaway County District Library.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Wagner, S. Washington St., were selected to head the 1961 Cancer Crusade here.

Pickaway Countians had waded through about 17 inches of snow since Christmas and temperatures had ranged from a high of 55 Jan. 13 to a low of 11 below zero the following week.

TEN YEARS AGO

Mrs. Dwight H. Wilson of Circleville was to be among those graduated from the Practical Nurse School of Columbus and Franklin County this month.

Glen M. Jones of 206 Cedar Heights Rd. was the newest addition to the Circleville Fire Department.

A portion of old Route 23, bypassed by a new four-lane highway, was turned over to Pickaway County according to an announcement from the State Highway Department.

Stephanie Hedges, Robert C. Frisch
Exchange Wedding Vows in New York

Miss Stephanie Hedges, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jasper M. Hedges, 339 Wood Lane, and Mr. Robert Charles Frisch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Frisch, East Aurora, N. Y., were united in marriage 2:30 p. m. Jan. 29 in All Saints Episcopal Church, Syracuse, N.Y.

Father Albert Anderson performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white snapdragons, carnations, Fuji mums and white tapers.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor length princess style gown of white tulle with a bateau neckline, elbow length sleeves bordered with Venetian lace and a Watteau back featuring triple tiers edged in matching lace. A pillbox of tulle trimmed with matching Venetian lace held her veil of imported silk illusion and she carried a French nosegay of white roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Talbot M. Curtin of Syracuse, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Ann Hedges, Circleville, sister of the bride and Miss Carroll Murray, Syracuse. They wore identical ankle length princess style dresses of American beauty tulle, each designed with a triple tiered skirt and Tom Jones sleeves featuring a bow at the border ruffle. Their headpieces were pillboxes of matching tulle.

Mr. Peter Minich of Buffalo, N. Y., served as best man. Ushers were Mr. Ronald Boyajian, Syracuse, and Mr. Charles Hedges, Memphis, Tenn.

Following the ceremony, a reception and dinner was held at Country House, Syracuse. Miss Diana Papademas of Syracuse was hostess.

The new Mrs. Frisch is a graduate of Syracuse University where she was a member of Advertising Design — Institute Honorary and Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority. She is now employed by the design department of Syracuse University.

Mr. Frisch is attending Syracuse University and is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity.

The couple resides in Syracuse, N. Y.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

No Monkeyshines!

DEAR ABBY: You made such a fuss about the teacher who assigned her students the task of making a "family tree." You said it was an "invasion of privacy." You showed your hand, Abby. I'll wager that you have never written to a genealogical society requesting that they trace your family tree. Are you afraid of what they might find?

C.J.L.
DEAR C.J.L.: No, I'm afraid they might send me back a bunch of bananas.

DEAR ABBY: Is it permissible for a girl to wear her grandmother's diamond for an engagement ring? It is a perfect two-carat diamond in an old-fashioned setting. I would wear it just as it is so as not to detract from the sentimental value. My parents say that I may have it if I want it. The man I am going to marry is in the service, and his money could be used in other ways. Besides, I'm sure he couldn't afford to get me a ring to compare with my grandmother's. Would this be proper?

SENTIMENTAL
DEAR SENTIMENTAL: An engagement is a compact of hearts. The ring is from the man to his beloved to let the whole world in on it. Just an entry-ways diamond from your intended would have more "sentimental" value than grandma's perfect two-carat rock. If the diamond were HIS grandmother's, it would be fine. Too bad, the wrong grandmother had the rock.

Gets in Dutch, Too

MADERA, Calif. (AP) — Robert Barbour, 25, was appearing in Madera Justice Court, accused by police of being in a bar in violation of his probation.

Dennis Wisener, 24, testified Barbour could not have been in that bar because he and Barbour were drinking together at a different bar at the time.

When Wisener finished his testimony, a deputy probation officer, Tom Barnes, arrested him for violating the terms of his own probation. Wisener, convicted of stealing hay, was not supposed to frequent bars either.

Barbour was fined $100 and Wisener sentenced to 90 days in jail.

WSCS Meet

There were 11 members present when the Tarlton WSCS met in the church social room Wednesday afternoon.

Following group singing Mrs. Walter Hunt was in charge of devotions. She read Scripture and discussed the topic, "Automation and Leisure." Mrs. Donald Cummings lead in prayer.

Mrs. Albert Spangler, president, conducted the business meeting. Mrs. Joe Jenkins, secretary, and Mrs. Walter Griffith, treasurer, reported. The group received an invitation to a Silver Tea at Hedges Chapel 2-4 p. m. Feb. 19.

It was announced that an offering will be collected at the next meeting for the conference school for adults and for youth in missions.

A donation was given to the Builders' Club at the Lancaster Campground. Donations were also given to the March of Dimes, Heart Fund and Cerebral Palsy Fund.

Plans for attending a television show were discussed and Mrs. Griffith will be in charge of arrangements.

The program consisted of readings by Mrs. Albert Spangler and Mrs. Lloyd Spung, and a contest by Mrs. John Carr.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Spangler and Mrs. Jenkins.

The next meeting will be Mar. 2.

ROCKS IN THE BOX

DEAR ROCKS: Don't accept any dates arranged by people you "hardly know." And inform those you do date that your money is "tied up" in trusts for your children. Many will retreat into the woodwork. Those who remain are "for real."

DEAR ABBY: A co-worker of mine recently was married in Las Vegas. Weeks later she sent out an open invitation to their wedding reception addressed to "THE GANG" at the office. It was a small printed card saying the "reception" would be at the American Legion Hall on Sunday afternoon from 2 until 4. On the left hand corner of the card it said, "NO GIFTS." Then on the right hand corner it said, "MONEY TREE." Does this mean people are expected to bring something for the tree?

CONFUSED
DEAR CONFUSED: Yes. They'd prefer something in "currency" green. And if you go, you'll also be adding a little sap to the party.

TV Moguls Now Selecting
Fare for Coming Season

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The selling season is on, here and in the think shops of Madison Avenue.

In hotel suites, boards of directors rooms and studio commissaries, decisions are being made that will determine what the public will view in the way of television shows next season. A hundred or more pilots will be steering the shoals of unresponsive sponsors and uninterested networks.

Only one out of every four pilots will be chosen, the three networks having 22 hours of canceled programs to replace. Producers, creators and stars perch on the brink of millions of dollars, awaiting their fate.

Here are some of the proposed series the trade believes have good chances to be sold:

"House of Wax," an hour version of the third horror picture from Warner Bros., starring Cesare Danova and Wilfred Hyde-White.

"The Sheriff," contemporary heroics in a small California town with Gilbert Roland and Jim Stacy.

"April Savage," a Western starring Robert Lansing, drop-out of "12 O'Clock High."

"Men Against Evil," cops-and-robbers stuff with Howard Duff, Jeanne Crain and Ben Alexander.

"The Jean Arthur Show" with her playing a criminal lawyer pitted against a prosecutor who happens to be her son.

"Pistols and Petticoats" featuring Ann Sheridan as a Calamity Jane type.

"The Tammy Grimes Show" — situation comedy.

"Mr. Terrific" with Alan Young as a Milquetoast who turns into a superman.

"The Pet Set," Barbara Rush as a veterinarian, Jason Evers as her lawyer husband.

"Pursuit" — Telly Savalas on the run a la "Fugitive" — "Run For Your Life."

"Reckoning," Richard Beymer, Audrey Totter, Sidney Blackmer and seven other regulars in a series of small-town life. Sound familiar?

"Jericho," an hour action-drama of World War II.

"The Girl from U.N.C.L.E.," — enough said?

"The Rounders" with Ron Hayes and Pat Wayne in the movie roles played by Henry Fonda and Glenn Ford.

"From Here to Eternity," with Darren McGavin in the Burt Lancaster role.

"Iron Horse," which would return Dale Robertson to television as operator of a frontier railroad.

"The Voice of Gruber Hill," Kave Stevens as operator of a small town television station.

The home of earliest known man — Olduvai Gorge in Tanzania — has become a tourist attraction. Visitors make an arduous journey over East Africa's dusty plains to see the fossil beds where the remains of two-million-year-old manlike creatures have been unearthed by Dr. and Mrs. L.S.B. PANTS TABU—Sharon Ann Dalrymple, 18, a senior in high school in Saratoga Springs, N.Y., is shown wearing the slacks that got her sent home for improper dress. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Dalrymple, contend the slacks are reasonable because students must be outdoors going from class to class. The Board of Education's ruling is being appealed to State Education Commissioner James E. Allen.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

No Monkeyshines!

DEAR ABBY: You made such a fuss about the teacher who assigned her students the task of making a "family tree." You said it was an "invasion of privacy." You showed your hand, Abby. I'll wager that you have never written to a genealogical society requesting that they trace your family tree. Are you afraid of what they might find?

C.J.L.
DEAR C.J.L.: No, I'm afraid they might send me back a bunch of bananas.

DEAR ABBY: Is it permissible for a girl to wear her grandmother's diamond for an engagement ring? It is a perfect two-carat diamond in an old-fashioned setting. I would wear it just as it is so as not to detract from the sentimental value. My parents say that I may have it if I want it. The man I am going to marry is in the service, and his money could be used in other ways. Besides, I'm sure he couldn't afford to get me a ring to compare with my grandmother's. Would this be proper?

SENTIMENTAL
DEAR SENTIMENTAL: An engagement is a compact of hearts. The ring is from the man to his beloved to let the whole world in on it. Just an eighty-twenty diamond from your intended would have more "sentimental" value than a grandma's perfect two-carat rock. If the diamond were HIS grandmother's, it would be fine. Too bad, the wrong grandmother had the rock.

Witness for Parolee
Gets in Dutch, Too

MADERA, Calif. (AP) — Robert Barbour, 25, was appearing in Madera Justice Court, accused by police of being in a bar in violation of his probation.

Dennis Wisener, 24, testified Barbour could not have been in that bar because he and Barbour were drinking together at a different bar at the time.

When Wisener finished his testimony, a deputy probation officer, Tom Barnes, arrested him for violating the terms of his own probation. Wisener, convicted of stealing hay, was not supposed to frequent bars either.

Barbour was fined $100 and Wisener sentenced to 90 days in jail.

Tarlton
WSCS Meet

There were 11 members present when the Tarlton WSCS met in the church social room Wednesday afternoon.

Following group singing Mrs. Walter Hunt was in charge of devotions. She read Scripture and discussed the topic, "Automation and Leisure." Mrs. Donald Cummins led in prayer.

Mrs. Albert Spangler, president, conducted the business meeting. Mrs. Joe Jenkins, secretary, and Mrs. Walter Griffith, treasurer, reported. The group received an invitation to a Silver Tea at Hedges Chapel 24 p. m. Feb. 19.

It was announced that an offering will be collected at the next meeting for the conference school for adults and for youth in missions.

A donation was given to the Builders' Club at the Lancaster Campground. Donations were also given to the March of Dimes, Heart Fund and Cerebral Palsy Fund.

Plans for attending a television show were discussed and Mrs. Griffith will be in charge of arrangements.

The program consisted of readings by Mrs. Albert Spangler and Mrs. Lloyd Spung, and a contest by Mrs. John Carr.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Spangler and Mrs. Jenkins.

The next meeting will be Mar. 2.

Union Guild Plans
To Meet Wednesday

Union Guild will meet 1:30 p. m. Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Francis Morrison, 139 Griner Ave.

TV Moguls Now Selecting
Fare for Coming Season

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The selling season is on, here and in the think shops of Madison Avenue.

In hotel suites, boards of directors rooms and studio commissaries, decisions are being made that will determine what the public will view in the way of television shows next season. A hundred or more pilots will be steering the shoals of unresponsive sponsors and uninterested networks.

Only one out of every four pilots will be chosen, the three networks having 22 hours of canceled programs to replace. Producers, creators and stars perch on the brink of millions of dollars, awaiting their fate.

Here are some of the proposed series the trade believes have good chances to be sold:

"House of Wax," an hour version of the third horror picture from Warner Bros., starring Cesare Danova and Wilfred Hyde-White.

"The Sheriff," contemporary heroics in a small California town with Gilbert Roland and Jim Stacy.

"April Savage," a Western starring Robert Lansing, drop-out of "12 O'Clock High."

"Men Against Evil," cops-and-robbers stuff with Howard Duff, Jeanne Crain and Ben Alexander.

"The Jean Arthur Show" with her playing a criminal lawyer pitted against a prosecutor who happens to be her son.

"Pistols and Petticoats" featuring Ann Sheridan as a Calamity Jane type.

"The Tammy Grimes Show" — situation comedy.

"Mr. Terrific" with Alan Young as a Milquetoast who turns into a superman.

"The Pet Set," Barbara Rush as a veterinarian. Jason Evers as her lawyer husband.

"Pursuit" — Telly Savalas on the run a la "Fugitive" — "Run

For Your Life."
"Reckoning," Richard Beymer. Audrey Totter, Sidney Blackmer and seven other regulars in a serial of small-town life. Sound familiar?
"Jericho," an hour action-drama of World War II.
"The Girl from U.N.C.L.E." — enough said?
"The Rounders" with Ron Hayes and Pat Wayne in the movie roles played by Henry Fonda and Glenn Ford.
"From Here to Eternity," with Darren McGavin in the Burt Lancaster role.
"Iron Horse," which would return Dale Robertson to television as operator of a frontier railroad.
"The Voice of Gruber Hill," Kaye Stevens as operator of a small-town television station.

The home of earliest known man — Olduvai Gorge in Tanzania — has become a tourist attraction. Visitors make an arduous journey over East Africa's dusty plains to see the fossil beds where the remains of two-million-year-old manlike creatures have been unearthed by Dr. and Mrs. L.S.B. Leakey, the famed British anthropologists whose work is supported by the National Geographic Society.

SPORTS

The Circleville Herald, Sat. Feb. 5, 1966
Circleville, Ohio

Logan Elm Downs Paint Valley, 82-63, In SVC

The Logan Elm Braves wrapped play in the Scioto Valley Conference Friday night by defeating host school Paint Valley, 82-63.

Assured of second place the Braves can only await the outcome of Westfall's two remaining games to see if they can possibly share the SVC title.

The Braves have a 4-1 conference mark. Westfall is 3-0 in the league, but has games remaining with Laurelvale and Pike-ton.

The Braves jumped to an early lead as Russ Merrin scored 11 points in the first quarter. The count was 17-11 at the end of the first eight minutes of action.

BY HALFTIME Logan Elm had built a 40-23 lead. As the final quarter got started, the Braves led 63-37.

Darryl Reichelderfer came up with his best performance of the year. The three-year veteran pivot man for the Braves hit 11 of 18 field goal tries and added three charity tosses and three free throws for a 25-point total. He also hauled 18 rebounds off the boards, although he played only three quarters.

Merrin added 23 markers to the LE attack, connecting on 10 of 18 from the field and hitting three foul shots.

Don Schaal, the remaining third of the Logan Elm front line, canned four field goals and three foul shots for 11 markers.

Ken Palmer came off the bench to tally eight points. Steve Fouch notched six, Tom Smith hit four, Greg Fraunfelder scored three and Jim Moorehead two.

For the losers, Dave Jones, a junior guard, came up with 16 points. Mike Kinnamon had 15 and Mike Whitt 13.

THE BRAVES hit 31 of 66 field goal tries for a 47 per cent accuracy average. Paint Valley canned 26 of 54 tries for a 48 per cent mark.

The Braves committed 13 turnovers and Paint Valley 12. In rebounding Logan Elm held the biggest edge, clearing 52 off the boards compared to 29 for Paint Valley's Bearcats.

At the foul line, the Braves hit 20 of 31 tries for a 64 per cent mark.

Tigers Repulse Hillsboro, 80-75 After Big 18-Point Lead Erased

By STEVE JONES

What started out to be a dull basketball game from a spectator angle ended as a real thriller Friday night in the Circleville High School gym.

The CHS Tigers claimed an 80-75 victory over Hillsboro, although it didn't come as easy as the early stages indicated it would. The hometowners held an 18-point lead at one interlude, but the margin dwindled as the game progressed.

On three occasions in the second quarter, the locals had 14 point cushion over the Indians, although the score was 39-28 at halftime.

The Red and Black came right back after the intermission, scoring six quick points to post a 17-point margin.

AND THEN the Indians slowly began to bridge the gap until only 12 points separated the teams with 1:38 to go in the third quarter.

Another spurt on the part of the Tigers boosted them to a 60-42 edge, but the Indians retaliated with two and 16 points separated the two teams as the final quarter started.

The Hillsboro fourth quarter rally got under way with John Strain and Jim Dixon scoring two buckets as the quarter started. Mike Martindill canned a two-pointer for the Tigers and then John Cameron scored for the Indians.

After Jimmy Diltz hit a pair of foul shots with 5:52 showing on the clock, Hillsboro fashioned another spurt in which they reeled off seven points before Circleville could score again.

Tim Stonerock came up with two markers to make the score 65-57. At this point, Diltz committed his fifth personal foul with four minutes remaining. Dixon hit both ends of a one-and-one. A few seconds later, Rhoads canned a pair of charity tosses and only three points stood between the Tigers and the Indians.

With 3:12 remaining, Roger Grigg hit both ends of a one-and-one but Rhoads came right back with a jump shot from the left side of the key to pull the visitors within three points again.

FORCED to foul to gain possession of the ball in the final two minutes, the Indians saw the Tigers connect effectively at the charity stripe as they pulled away to a 76-67 lead with only one minute to go.

Hillsboro spurted again in the final seconds but could get no closer than five.

The Tigers actually won at the foul line where they connected on 42 of 54 attempts, compared to only 19 of 48 field goal tries.

During the final quarter, Circleville did very little shooting from the field. The locals simply tried to hold on to the ball to protect their lead.

Hillsboro fired away 77 times getting the second and third effort in several instances, but could hit only 28 field goals. At the charity stripe, the Indians converted 19 of 32 attempts.

Tim Stonerock, in his best of-fense performance of his high school career, scored 37 points for Circleville.

HE CONNECTED on 10 of 16 field goal tries and 17 of 21 shots. In the last two minutes, he hit nine straight charity tosses.

Diltz scored 11 points before fouling out midway through the final period. Danny Speakman, who left the game via the personal foul route early in the second half, tallied nine markers. Joe Winner had eight, Grigg six and Martindill two.

For Hillsboro, Eddie Robbins, better known by Circleville baseball fans as a fireballing right hand hurler, canned 20 points. Benny Rhoads added 15 and Jim Dixon 14.

The win is the third of the season for the Tigers and the second in South Central Ohio League play against six losses. Hillsboro has won three and lost five in league action.

The Tigers travel to Washington C. H. Friday for the final away game of the season. The following three encounters are at home, beginning with Pleasant View next Saturday.

Vikings Defeat Falcons, 65-52

By BILL DORE

Riding high on the double figure scoring of four starters, the Teays Valley Vikings swept to their third win in five starts in South Suburban League competition Friday night, downing the host Falcons of Franklin Heights, 65-52.

The win gives the Vikings undisputed possession of second place in the league.

With 6-2 forward Gary Wilson and 6-3 center Rod Teets caging 16 points each, the Vikings put together excellent scoring and floor shooting.

Senior co-captain Gerald Green followed with 15, Butch Kinsell chipped in with 12 as he set three season records in other departments and Gayle Fosnaugh added six.

AS A TEAM, the TV men hit half of 48 attempts from the floor. From the charity stripe they hit 17 of 33 for a 52 per cent average.

The Falcons were called for personal fouls 22 times. The Vikings had nine infractions charged against them.

The Viking turnover rate was below average as they committed only eight during the game.

In the individual department, Green and Teets hauled down nine rebounds. Green was credited with four assists.

Kinsell chalked up season records in assists with 80, including his three last night. He also broke existing mark for free throws attempted and made for the season.

Franklin Heights controlled the opening tip and quickly scored. Eight minutes and four deadlocks later, the Greggmen were up by two, 18-16. The second quarter brought more of the same, but the Vikings managed to stay three ahead at intermission, 31-29.

THE post-intermission quarter saw the Falcons stay within five, coming as close as one during the period.

In the final canto, the Vikings finally made it a rout, but not until late in the contest.

Mickey Pless, 6-3 transfer from Columbus West, led Franklin Heights with 23 markers.

The Viking jayvees also won their tilt, 47-39. Stan Will and Mike Lombardo led the scoring with 13 and 12 respectively.

The Vikings face Logan Elm tonight in the TV gymnasium.

Westfall Five Edged, 79-67, At Madison

Westfall went down to a defeat for the third time this season Friday night, losing to Darby Valley League leader Madison South, 76-67, on the winners' floor.

The game was crucial in that the outcome could affect seeding of teams in the upcoming sectional tournament at Teays Valley High School.

Westfall and Madison South are two of the better rated teams slated to appear in the annual tournament.

The Mustang guards led the losing attack. Brad Thompson notched 18 points while Tom Hamman had 17.

THE STARTING front line for Westfall, Tom Beard, Neil Coleman and Tom Scribner, was held to a total of 20 points, although Ray Mowery scored 10 in relief.

The Madison South reserves won the preliminary, 39-38.

'Catfish' Holds Lead In Classic

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) —It was plainly a case of fisherman trying to catch a catfish today in the fourth round of the five-round $100,000 Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic.

The "Catfish" is good-natured Harold Kneece, who got the nickname when he fished for same as a kid in South Carolina and still answers to it.

The angler is Bill Casper Jr., who admittedly would rather fish than golf.

Kneece, from Aiken, S.C., went into today's round with a precarious lead of only two strokes over Casper, the 1965 Hope winner, who came on with a rush Friday with a 7-under-par 65.

Their 54 holes scores: Kneece, 68-68-69-205; Casper 69-73-65-207.

But with 36 holes remaining, this was still not just a two-man struggle for the $100,000 purse.

Five shots behind the "Catfish" was Doug Sanders, a seasoned tournament pro, while Arnold Palmer, notorious for his c o m e-from-behind performances, was seven shots off the pace.

Laurelville On Top in Cage League

The Laurelville Wildcats, finishing strong in the last quarter, trounced Hamden, 90-63, on the losers' hardwood in a Vinton-Hocking League game.

Rick Unger paced the Wildcats in scoring as he cracked 12 field goals and two free throws for 26 points. His brother, Mick, tallied 18, his second highest for the season.

Dwight Woodward canned 21 points for Laurelville. Steve Hettinger had 16, Terry Thompson had five and Jeff Whitcraft had four.

Gregory of Hamden led his team with 23 on seven field goals and nine charity tosses.

The first half was close all the way and at intermission Laurelville was on top, 36-30. But the third period saw the Wildcats pull to a 59-45 margin.

Win Paced By Congrove

Rick Congrove's 25-point effort paced the Circleville Tiger reserves in their 51-35 victory Friday night over the Hillsboro Indian junior varsity.

It was the third win of the season for the Tigers. They played without their coach, Kelly Boyer, who is ill with the flu.

The 25 points by Congrove is the team's seasonal high. Congrove, who has played some varsity ball this year, canned 10 field goals and five free throws.

Hillsboro never seriously threatened Circleville, as the Tigers built up an early 10-point lead the Indians couldn't overcome the locals held Hillsboro to a scant five points in the first period while they netted 17. At the end of the half, Circleville led 25-16.

THAT lead was widened to 39-24 after the third period, and the Tigers sailed through the last period to the win.

Remedial Reading Program At Logan Elm will Aid 214

The remedial reading program which will be instituted in the Logan Elm School District through federal funds obtained under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act will help 214 students.

Although the program is designed to assist children of educationally and economically deprived families, John Henn, executive head, pointed out any student needing remedial reading may take the course.

The federal grant was $16,535.02. Henn noted that probably not all the funds will be utilized since the program has been delayed awaiting federal approval.

In spite of the delay, Logan Elm is the first local school to get federal okay for its project.

AS SOON as this project is initiated, Henn hopes to get to work on a special education project. Funds also will be available for this program.

Also in the planning stage is a joint venture for a mobile unit for the three schools in the Pickaway County system.

The remedial program will be evaluated at the end of the school year.

Henn said it will probably be continued next year, if federal funds are made available, and if the evaluation proves the program to be worthwhile.

In addition to helping slow reading students, Henn pointed out it will indirectly aid other pupils in that present classroom teachers will be in a position to devote more time to them.

Students will be assigned by reading levels rather than by age or class.

THERE are 31 students, in level 1, 29 in 2, 41 in 3, 38 in four, 50 in five, 21 in six and four in seven.

The county superintendent's office is assisting with the program. However, personnel in the office are not financially reimbursed for assistance provided.

Robert Seward, county supervisor, set up the reading program.

Ohio Presbyterian Synod OKs 'Historic Changes'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Union Presbyterian Church's Ohio Synod established a new organizational structure and enacted other "historic changes for this denomination" at its 85th annual meeting here Friday.

Under the new system, the 10 Presbyteries in the state elect 72 rather than 230 synod delegates to carry out church business. Delegates will serve two year terms.

Other major changes include: —Elimination of the confusing and elaborate committee structure that had 31 separate groups with 311 members. It was replaced by six major committees and four program departments with a total of 93 participating members.

—Two meetings of the synod each year rather than one lasting for a week as has been the practice.

—Creation of field staff offices across the state with multiple specialized staff — urban, rural, social witness, new church development, Christian education, etc.—to counsel and guide Presbyteries and local churches in particular ministries.

The Rev. Dr. John Thompson Peters, senior minister of the Collingwood Presbyterian Church, Toledo, was unanimously elected moderator of the 85th synod.

Elected as vice moderator was The Rev. James L. Hill, pastor of Central Presbyterian Church, Zanesville.

The Rev. Edgar Tweddle, pastor of Georgetown's Presbyterian Church, was named stated clerk of the 85th Synod and The Rev. Stuart Barr, pastor of the New Philadelphia Presbyterian Church, was named by Dr. Peters as temporary stated clerk.

Also named were the 93 persons who will compose the new structure.

Elected state clerk for a three-year term was Judge James Bell of Columbus.

Llanfairpwllgwyngyllgogerychwyrndrobwlllantysiliogogoch, Wales (AP) — Take a good look at this name because you may never see it again.

It belongs to a tiny railroad station in North Wales which Britain's state-run railways is closing on Feb. 14.

Railroad chiefs say the station is just not getting enough passengers these days and they are scrapping it as part of a make-the-railways-pay program.

With the closure, however, ends a joke nearly two centuries old.

The 58-letter tongue twister is known the world around though

"That is not anticipated at all," he said. "I wouldn't anticipate. . . making any changes one way or the other." But he added: "I wouldn't say that we wouldn't learn some things from the meeting that would cause us to either improve the situation or strengthen it."

The fact that Johnson is being accompanied by Freeman and Gardner — as well as Rusk and McNamara — drew applause from Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana.

Mansfield, principal author of the grim report on the war which touched off congressional debate on Viet Nam, said Johnson was taking the initiative in "doing all we can in the fields of health, education and agriculture for the people of South Viet Nam."

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said he wishes the President good luck but he doubts "he will be able to accomplish very much with the South Vietnamese leaders."

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., a persistent critic of Johnson's course in Asia, commented that "it would be better if he went to the United Nations — that is the only place left for the settlement of this war."

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., former secretary of health, education and welfare, called Johnson's action "belated recognition" of the fact that "it's going to take more than bombs to win the support of the South Vietnamese people."

Johnson said the presence of Freeman and Gardner in the conference working group reflects his own desire to follow up on statements of Ky urging greater progress in the fields of education, health and agriculture in South Viet Nam.

Johnson was asked about the refusal of McNamara and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, to testify in public before the Foreign Relations Committee.

He said that when American forces are fighting an enemy, a government witness "cannot be fully responsive (in public hearings) or if he is fully responsive he endangers and places in jeopardy the lives of a good many of our men."

even articulate Welshmen take a deep breath, then think twice before trying to say it out loud.

The joke is that there's really no such place. It's only the name of the station. Legend has it that a Welsh cobbler, his name now long forgotten, first coined the name to poke fun at long Welsh place names. For his joke he enlarged on the name of a village called simply Llanfair.

He came up with Llanfair-you-know-what.

Translated, it means: "The church of St. Mary in a hollow of white hazel near to a rapid whirlpool and to St. Tysilio's church close to a red cave."

Which is not so much a name, but more a geography lesson. People called it Llanfair P.G. for short — and who could blame them?

In the 1920s a railway porter named Williams, who must have been a sharp lad, saw the possibilities and built himself a 26-yard-long nameplate for the station with letters 18 inches high.

The result was immediate. Britons swarmed to the remote Welsh spot to get themselves photographed alongside the mammoth nameplate.

The thing stretched a good way along one entire platform and was rated one of the wonders of Europe.

The railroads decided you could have too much of a good thing, however, and in 1956 regularized the affair by erecting two metal nameplates, each a modest 20 feet long with letters

Remedial Reading Program At Logan Elm will Aid 214

The remedial reading program which will be instituted in the Logan Elm District through federal funds obtained under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act will help 214 students.

Although the program is designed to assist children of educationally and economically deprived families John Henn, executive head, pointed out any student needing remedial reading may take the course.

The federal grant was $16,535.62. Henn noted that probably not all the funds will be utilized since the program has been delayed awaiting federal approval.

OMEA Award Presented to Mary Tolbert

Miss Mary R. Tolbert, Route 1, has been presented the Ohio Music Education Ass'n's Distinguished Service Award of 1966.

Miss Tolbert, an associate professor at Ohio State University, received the award at the recognition Banquet during the annual January OMEA state convention held in Toledo.

The citation recognized Miss Tolbert's outstanding contributions as a musician, teacher, author and leader in music education in the state of Ohio and the nation.

Professor Tolbert has served as president of the North Central Music Educators National Conference for the past two years. She has held a number of national and state professional offices as well as the presidency of the OMEA. She is co-author of "This Is Music", a basic textbook series used widely in elementary schools and author of numerous articles and sections of professional books.

A GRADUATE of Ohio State and Columbia universities, Miss Tolbert has also studied in Europe and at Juilliard School of Music. She has taught at the University of Michigan, San Jose State College, California, the Fred Waring Music Shops in Pennsylvania and has lectured at universities in all sections of the country.

Last summer she conducted a Ford Foundation pilot study in contemporary music for teachers at the State University of Arizona.

Before joining the Ohio State faculty, Miss Tolbert taught music in public schools of Ohio and was a former teacher in Walnut Twp.

Savings Bonds Option Offered

Kenneth Fosnaugh, Pickaway County's Savings Bond chairman, today reminded taxpayers that the Treasury Department offers them the opportunity of taking income tax refunds in United States Savings Bonds.

The savings option, introduced in 1963, is in addition to the two standard options of taking tax refunds in cash or applying them to next year's tax.

"When a taxpayer checks the Savings Bond line on a 1965 tax form," Fosnaugh said, "he automatically assures himself of two advantages: he provides himself with an easy method of holding on to his tax refund dollars and a sure way of making it grow one-third larger at maturity."

major shift in military policy such as some of his critics have been demanding.

"That is not anticipated at all," he said. "I wouldn't anticipate . . . making any changes one way or the other." But he added: "I wouldn't say that we wouldn't learn some things from the meeting that would cause us to either improve the situation or strengthen it."

The fact that Johnson is being accompanied by Freeman and Gardner — as well as Rusk and McNamara — drew applause from Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana.

Mansfield, principal author of the grim report on the war which touched off congressional debate on Viet Nam, said Johnson was taking the initiative in "doing all we can in the fields of health, education and agriculture for the people of South Viet Nam."

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said he wishes the President good luck but he doubts "he will be able to accomplish very much with the South Vietnamese leaders."

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., a persistent critic of Johnson's course in Asia, commented that "it would be better if he went to the United Nations — that is the only place left for the settlement of this war."

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., former secretary of health, education and welfare, called Johnson's action "belated recognition" of the fact that "it's going to take more than bombs to win the support of the South Vietnamese people."

Johnson said the presence of Freeman and Gardner in the conference working group reflects his own desire to follow up on statements of Ky urging greater progress in the fields of education, health and agriculture in South Viet Nam.

Johnson was asked about the refusal of McNamara and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, to testify in public before the Foreign Relations Committee.

He said that when American forces are fighting an enemy, a government witness "cannot be fully responsive (in public hearings) or if he is fully responsive he endangers and places in jeopardy the lives of a good many of our men."

even articulate Welshmen take a deep breath, then think twice before trying to say it out loud.

The joke is that there's really no such place. It's only the name of the station. Legend has it that a Welsh cobbler, his name now long forgotten, first coined the name to poke fun at long Welsh place names. For his joke he enlarged on the name of a village called simply Llanfair.

He came up with Llanfair-you-know-what.

Translated, it means: "The church of St. Mary in a hollow of white hazel near to a rapid whirlpool and to St. Tysilio's church close to a red cave."

Which is not so much a name, but more a geography lesson. People called it Llanfair P.G. for short — and who could blame them?

In the 1920s a railway porter named Williams, who must have been a sharp lad, saw the possibilities and built himself a 26-yard-long nameplate for the station with letters 18 inches high.

Ashville Firemen Douse Burning Tires

The Ashville - Harrison Volunteer Fire Department doused two burning tires on a truck at 2:30 a. m. today on Route 23 six miles north of Circleville.

Driver of the truck was Jerry R. Sturgill, Big Stone Gap, Va. He told the State Highway Patrol the two rear tires blew out. Friction ignited them before he could get stopped.

Damage was confined to the tires.

The result was immediate. Britons swarmed to the remote Welsh spot to get themselves photographed alongside the mammoth nameplate.

The thing stretched a good way along one entire platform and was rated one of the wonders of Europe.

The railroads decided you could have too much of a good thing, however, and in 1956 regularized the affair by erecting two metal nameplates, each a modest 20 feet long with letters a mere four inches high — thus fitting in with Britain's other less sensational stations.

The name grossed British Railways some $12,460 since six-inch-long platform tickets with

Controversial Yale Prof To Be Heard

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — Staughton Lynd, the Yale University professor who went to North Viet Nam on an independent "peace mission" is scheduled to speak at Miami University next week at a "Voices of Dissent" series.

A university spokesman said the speakers were chosen for their "varying and sometimes extreme viewpoints" and Lynd was asked to speak on "the analysis of student revolt," not on his trip to Viet Nam. Lynd has also gained attention as a supporter of student demonstrations such as those at Berkeley, Calif.
